INSPIRATIONAL GUIDE

Made By Me™

Not all our garages will serve as the first stop of a company like Apple, Disney or even Harley Davidson, but we would all love our garages to function better for us every day. Whether your space is a convenient place to park a car or more likely a place to store all your stuff, a garage plays a central place in each homeowner's experience.

LET'S START BUILDING™

PARK INSIDE AGAIN™

Remove the clutter and utilize more wall space to create more room in your garage

More than 25% of people can't park in their garages and more than 33% homeowner's can only pull one car in because of the other uses they have for their garage. Additionally, the recent pandemic changed attitudes across the country about what a garage can be used for and it opened people's eyes to the opportunity to have their own personal gym, home office, etc.

Unfortunately, you can't really enjoy these alternative uses unless you remove the clutter and use your wall space in the most efficient way possible. That is where this kit comes into play. Every garage is different and every homeowner has different clutter they want to tame, so we can't give you a map of the perfect garage, but we can give you some pointers along the way.

TIPS FOR ORGANIZING YOUR GARAGE

MAKE A GARAGE STORAGE LIST

Your list could include sports equipment, seasonal items, back-up storage items for home necessities, tools, garden items, wheelbarrows and lawnmowers.

CREATE A ROUGH MAP OF YOUR GARAGE

We aren't asking you to take up architecture or learn a new software, just sketch the general shape of the garage. Add any doors or windows or any mechanical items in your garage that take up space you can't use for storage.

ADD CATEGORIES TO YOUR GARAGE MAP

Use your own logic for what is most useful. Is it helpful to have bikes by the garage door or the side door? Do you want to keep helmets with the bikes or with the other sports equipment? Maybe you want to store all seasonal decorations together or in different places based on the occasion? This is the step that often takes the most time.

DETERMINE YOUR STORAGE NEEDS

Now that you have your blueprint, you need to look at each category and assess what is the best way to organize them. Bikes make more sense hanging from the walls or the ceiling than they do leaning somewhere. Hooks, clips and other wall attachments can allow you to hang tools, mops, brooms and racks in places that are easy to access each time.
